Forecast for Wednesday 14 Apr 2021

Weather: A chilly but bright start on the hills, with fog and mist in valleys. Fog will clear quickly after dawn with plenty of sunshine through the morning allowing for UV levels to become moderate. Clouds will bubble up through the morning with cloudier skies and the odd shower, or snow flurry above 800m, in the afternoon. By dusk cloud will begin to break up again allowing for another cold night with fog reforming in valleys.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 600m: 100%

Visibility: Excellent visibilities on hill tops through the day, with cloud bases above 900. Though temporary deteriorations are expected in and around showers as well as in fog in valleys first and last thing.
